CITY MINISTERS AND POLICE JOIN WAR ON PISTOLS

Jett Will Launch Round Up and Hold Pistotors Under Heavy Bond.

The wave of popular approval which has greeted the Constitution recently inaugurated war on the outlaw pistol, Monday was marked by the following developments:

1. Announcement by Chief of Police E. L. Jett that a compilation of annual figures of the department show that pistols were responsible for 46 of 62 homicides which occurred in the city during 1924, resulting in a decision on his part to launch an immediate police round-up of "pistol-toters" and to hold them for recorder's court under bond of $500.

2. Adoption Monday by the Evangelical Ministers association and the Methodist Ministers association of resolutions condemning the hip-pocket pistol and commending the Constitution for its fight.

3. Formal endorsement of the anti-pistol movement by Judge John D. Humphries from the bench of the criminal division of Fulton superior court and his pledge of hearty cooperation to relieve the menace of concealed weapons.

4. Prison sentences of 10 months at hard labor in the chain gang for two negroes convicted of having pistols on their persons in Judge Andy Calhoun's city criminal court, Judge Calhoun refusing to allow them the alternative of paying fines and declaring that he intended to break up "pistol-toting" if he was forced to "put every man in jail who came before him convicted of carrying concealed weapons."

5. Receipt of dispatches from Marion to the effect that the ministerial union of that city, after an all-day session Monday went on record as being in favor of city, state and national laws to restrict the sale of pistols. The movement was brought to the attention of Congressman Rutherford and United States Senators W. J. Harris and Walter F. George, by a committee of ministers, in an effort to obtain national legislation.

6. Dispatches from Athens stating that Judge Blanton Fortson, in opening Clarke county superior court, commended the stand taken by the Constitution in its fight against the sale of pistols in Georgia. Judge Fortson told the jurors that they would "do well to commend the paper on its stand." Judge Fortson has been a stout opponent of the "hip-pocket" pistol throughout his judicial career.

7. "To show the increasing menace of the hip-pocket pistol in Atlanta," Chief of Police Jett stated Monday, "I have investigated and found that during the three days immediately following Christmas, 300 pistols were found on people arrested by police."

The annual report of the department, just completed, discloses that 62 homicides occurred in Atlanta during 1924, of which number 46 were the result of pistol-toting. Knives were largely responsible for the remaining 22 deaths.

"Realization of the ever-growing terror of pistol-toting and promiscuous ownership of these deadly weapons has led me to order an immediate war on the concealed gun. From now on, all persons found with pistols in their possession will be held to recorder's court under $500 bond, and I will urge the recorder to hold them to the state courts in the same bond."

In addition, I will have my men raid certain places of congregation for loafers or men of bad reputation, and every man will be searched for a hip pocket pistol. I am in thorough sympathy with the Constitution's war.

VETO OF POSTAL INCREASE IS LIKELY TO BE UPHOLD

If Test Line-Up of Monday Is Held, Advocates of Overriding Coolidge Will Lack Few Votes.

SENATE VOTES TODAY UPON WAGE INCREASE

Senator George Critical of Inconsistency of President's Stand Now and Last Summer.

Washington, January 5.—President Coolidge's veto of the postal pay increase bill will be sustained in the senate tomorrow if administration leaders can hold the strength they were able to develop tonight on the first test vote. They are confident they can do so.

The test came on the motion by Chairman Sterling, of the postoffice committee, to recommit the measure which received executive disapproval last June. That motion was voted down, 30 to 52, but the 30 votes cast for recommitment is two more than the one-third necessary to prevent the measure becoming a law without presidential sanction.

If the president is sustained, the house will not be called upon to act, the pay raise measure having originated in the senate. In its place will be advanced the administration's combination pay and postal rate increase bill, introduced last week by Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, who failed in an effort today to place it before the senate prior to consideration of the veto.

Must Vote Today.

Under the unanimous consent agreement which became operative today, the senate must vote on the veto not later than 4 p. m. tomorrow. Under the parliamentary situation now existing, the pay and rate advance measure cannot be brought up immediately and there were few predictions today by senators speaking for the overriding of the veto bill would not be passed at this session.

One democrat—Dial, South Carolina—joined with 29 republicans in voting to send the pay measure to the postoffice committee, while 18 republicans—Total, 30.

Against recommitting: Republicans—Brookhart, Couzens, Bale, Edge, Fernald, Frazier, Goodell, Howell, Johnson (California), Jones (Washington), Ladd, La Follette, McLean, McNary, Norris, Reed (Pennsylvania), Standfield and Wadsworth—18.

Democrats—Ashurst, Bayard.

CHARGES RUM SERVED IN CITY CLUBS, HOTELS

Retiring Chief of Evangelical Ministers Calls For Militant Church Drive On Liquor.

WEAK-KNEED POLICY OF PASTORS SCORED

Memminger Calls For Fight For Sabbath Observance—Dodge Succeeds to Presidency.

Charging that while "whisky is being served in some hotels and clubs," Atlanta's ministers have lapsed into "a weak-kneed attitude and are missing a great opportunity to become a strong influence in the city's moral life by failing to come out boldly and demand strict enforcement of the prohibition law," Dr. W. W. Memminger, pastor of All Saints' Episcopal church, Monday closed the term of his presidency of the Evangelical Ministers' association with a rousing appeal for militant activity on the part of local preachers.

Dr. Memminger, who declined to stand for reelection, was succeeded by Dr. D. W. Witherspoon Dodge, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, was installed as first vice president; Rev. W. H. Faust, of Gordon Street Baptist, as second vice president, and Rev. Wright Moore, of West End Christian, as third vice president. James Morton was reelected secretary-treasurer.

"Our association as it functions at present," Dr. Memminger stated in his retiring address, "is altogether innocuous. We are regarded as people of a soft and lazy disposition, and what action we take has no teeth in it."

Calls for Action.

"My proposal is that we adopt a red-headed attitude; that we figuratively send our association to a dentist and have it equipped with a set of strong, new teeth, and that we make ourselves felt in the moral life of Atlanta."

"We have taken no strong, uncompromising position calculated to result in strict enforcement of the prohibition laws, and in some of Atlanta's hotels and clubs whisky is being served. We have failed to make of it."

Committee Is Voted Authority To Elect Chief. Mayor Sims Praises Record Made Last Year.

HARTSFIELD ELECTED 1924 MAYOR PRO TEM.

Inman Is Head of Police Committee, DuVall Finance, White Streets and Buchanan Sewers.

Continuation of the administration's 1924 policy regarding the police department was made certain Monday night when Mayor Walter A. Sims formally endorsed last year's police committee of city council by reappointing all but one member to serve in 1925. Not only will the Sims policies be carried out actively, but the committee was given additional power at the afternoon session when council voted to again place election of the chief of police in the hands of the committee.

In renaming Councilman Ed H. Inman, of the Eighth ward, as chairman of the board, and sending back every member of last year's committee with the exception of J. A. Beall, who retired from council, the mayor indicated his complete satisfaction with the manner in which the department was operated last year, and said as much in his annual message to council.

High Spots of Meeting.

Election of Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, of the Third ward, as mayor pro tem, for 1925, appointment of all councilmanic committee, inauguration of the mayor for his second term, and administering the oath of office to three aldermen and 12 councilmen, were the other high spots of the first meeting of the 1925 council Monday night.

In addition to reappointing practically the complete committee, the mayor mentioned the police department favorably in his annual message, stating, "The police department is functioning better today than it has in several years, and I am told by officers and men in the department that there is more and better cooperation now than at any time during the past few years. In this department, more and better equipment also was supplied during the past year."

Follow Hectic Year.

Last year's committee took office after a number of hectic years in the police department, and operated comparatively smoothly throughout the year. Its outstanding action, of course, was the ousting of Chief James L. Beavers. As a result, the committee is under injunction preventing it from electing a new chief until the Beavers case has been decided by the courts. The entire committee is composed of administration men, and carrying out of Mayor Sims' policies as they put into effect last year is regarded as certain.

Alderman R. A. Gordon was named vice-chairman, a position held last year by Mr. Beall. Aldermen Claude E. Buchanan and Jesse W. Armistead, both members of last year's committee, are back on this year's board, while Mr. Beall's place is taken by Councilman W. Garland Cooper, a member of the committee of two years ago.

The police committee will have additional powers.

REDUCTION SHOWN IN 1924 ARRESTS

Number of Cases Charging Traffic Violations and Intoxication Show Increase for Year.

There were 1,732 fewer arrests made by the Atlanta police department in 1924 than there were in the previous year, according to the annual report completed Monday night. The report shows that, in 1924, 32,697 persons were taken into custody for various offenses, while in 1923, there were 34,429 persons arrested.

During the year just ended there were just 1,000 arrests made by city police on state warrants. In the preceding year there were 1,800 state arrests made by local officers of the law.

Disorderly conduct, intoxication and motor law violations, as usual, led the list of arrests in 1924.

Traffic Violations.

There were more traffic violators and more drunks in 1924 than there were in 1923. During 1924, there were 5,208 persons seized for violation of the city traffic ordinances, while in 1923 there were only 4,820 such arrests. In 1924 there were 7,923 persons arrested charged with intoxication, while during the preceding year only 7,003 persons were jailed as drunks.

During the year 1924, there were 11,226 persons arrested, charged with disorderly conduct. This was slightly over the total number arrested for disorderly conduct in 1923.

Fines in the city recorder's court during the year just ended totaled $238,748.65, while in 1923, fines in the recorder's court amounted only to $185,537.15.

Amount of monies collected from all sources by the Atlanta police department during the year 1924 amounted to $268,583.98.

Amount of costs assessed in recorder's court was $22,690.

46 Arrests for Cruelty.

During the year 1924, there were 46 arrests for cruelty to animals, 16 for discharging firearms in the city limits, two for reckless driving of wagons, 1,800 for exceeding the speed limit, two for refusal to be vaccinated, four for refusing to move when taxed, three for refusing to pay taxi fares, 41 for gambling and 2,406 for idling and loitering.

Among the convictions in the state courts were 736 cases for violation of the state prohibition law and 44 for violation of the narcotic statutes.

MAYOR SIMS URGES ECONOMY IN HIS MESSAGE TO COUNCIL

Favors Selling City Hall, Police Station and Fire Headquarters and Erecting One Big Building.

A continued policy of strict economy to all departments of city government, even to consolidation and abolition of various departments, and reduction in the number of employees in others, is the keynote of Mayor Walter A. Sims' annual message to city council, delivered Monday night at the first meeting of the 1925 council.

Among chief recommendations of the mayor are:

Construction of a new municipal building with funds to be raised by sale of the present city hall, police barracks and fire department headquarters.

Cutting Council Membership.

Cutting the number of members of city council from the present 36 members to six aldermen and 12 councilmen.

Referendum to decide whether the school department should be returned to control of city council or maintained as a separate body, to be operated by taxes levied by that department.

Refusal to issue additional bonds for schools, parks, or any other project except in case of extreme emergencies.

Lowering the water rate as soon as the school debt is liquidated.

Abolition of the office of city warden.

No increase in city taxes.

Construction of viaducts over the railroad tracks on Central avenue and Pryor street.

New Bookkeeping System.

Installation of a centralized system of bookkeeping for the city, with a paymaster to pay salaries of all city employees.

Removal of the city stockade from its present location near Girls' High school, and incarceration of prisoners at the city penitentiary.

Opportunity's Knock

Troubles

A man's troubles multiply when they are allowed to take root in his imagination. But they have but a brief stay if you clip their wings before they soar.

When imagined troubles look monstrously big a man's only salvation is in the straightening of himself until he feels larger in size than his troubles appear to be.

Character shines forth in the dark hour of trial. Troubles are the educating lessons in life's school—they build the man.

Many of the financial troubles of everyday life disappear when you let The Constitution's Classified Columns chase them away.

Seared Pink Dressing Gown As Evidence in Divorce Case Causes Court Room To Gasp

Drinking, Gambling and High Lights of Society Revealed in Testimony of Congressman's Wife.

Alpena, Mich., January 5.—An appearance in person of the seared pink dressing gown, more about "Jazzbo," a little bit about the handsome hotel clerk, a roulette wheel, and some buckets of liquor with pineapples atop them, combined in keeping the audience on the edge of its chairs Monday, as the divorce suit of Congressman Frank D. Scott against his wife unfolded like a speeded-up movie film, a vivid picture of Washington frivolities.

The names of a number of other congressmen stirred the court room when Mrs. Scott took the stand to testify. In a cross bill charging cruelty, she has implied that her husband's charges of indiscretions were naught compared with the indiscretions of Congressman Scott, and she was not loath to tell of them.

Charges Gambling, Drinking.
"About the usual amount that might go on in any congressman's home," was her definition of the amount of liquor drinking at the home of Scott's friend, Congressman Allen Moore, of Monticello, Ill. She charged that Moore's guests watched the roulette wheel and also gambled at cards. Mrs. Scott claimed that her husband won a "considerable amount of money" during the visit to the Moore home.

"But he didn't divide with me until after Mr. Moore told me about it," she added.

Then there was that trip to the Canal Zone, from which Mrs. Scott says trunks full of liquor were brought back.

Johnson, Zihlman Involved.
Congressman Royal Johnson, of South Dakota, and Congressman Zihlman, of Maryland, were members of the party, she said. "During the trip everyone played cards every night and every day and drank a good deal," according to Mrs. Scott.

More of a movie scenario atmosphere entered into her story as she told how, once under the tropic palms, the members of the senate party of visiting congressmen were given cards directing them to the best liquor houses in the Canal Zone. But the problem of getting the liquor back to the United States still confronted Mrs. Scott, she said. This was solved, Mrs. Scott claimed, by filling buckets with booze, placing a layer of nice pineapples over the top of them, and bringing the fruit supply aboard ship, merry as could be.

Gown Stirs Flurry.
There was a flurry of excitement in the courtroom when the pink dressing gown emerged from the realm of things heard about, but not seen. Congressman Scott whirled the dressing gown, or kimono, into the glare that beamed upon the court, when he alleged that Captain Sumner, known to Mrs. Scott as "Jazzbo," made a midnight visit to his apartment when he was out, and that Sumner burned a hole in the kimono with his cigarette. Mrs. Scott was wearing the kimono, according to the congressman.

What action Weeks will take in enforcing the supreme court order is not known. The injunction has been ordered to go into effect within 60 days "without prejudice to any further permit which may be issued by the secretary of war."

If the flow of water is restricted, counsel for Chicago argued, the city's sewage will be carried into the lake and immediately pollute the water for more than 3,000,000 people, probably causing an epidemic. It was pointed out that the installation of the necessary filtration plants would cost more than $100,000,000 and would take 15 to 25 years to complete.

Should the decision be enforced to the letter, Chicago will have to provide other means of obtaining drainage water within the two-month period. Upon Weeks rests the enforcement and the secretary Monday night refused to make comment.

The Chicago canal has been drawing approximately 10,000 cubic feet per second from Lake Michigan for many years and the litigation to block the withdrawal was started in 1908. Practically every city and state bordering on the Great Lakes was represented in the hearing.

Attack Upon Cooperatives By Henry Ford Is Answered

Washington, D. C., January 5.—(Special).—Judge R. W. Bingham of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the National Council of Farmers' Cooperative Marketing associations, in opening the third annual meeting of that organization here today, replied vigorously to attacks made in Henry Ford's magazine during the past six months. These attacks, Judge Bingham declared, although made by a man whom he said all respect, were "in the nature of a personal attack" and one with tremendous resources and power, had not stopped one cooperative marketing association.

The speaker further declared that "as against the attack of Mr. Ford and his kind, we have for example, the direct, earnest persistent support of the president of the United States, the president of the Senate, the patriotic financiers throughout the country."

100 Coops. Represented.
When the council opened today, representatives from more than 100 cooperative associations throughout the country were present. J. E. Conell, president of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Cooperative association, Atlanta; C. R. Ware, director of both the Georgia Cotton Cooperative and the American Cotton Growers' exchange, Lawrenceville; W. A. Reeves, of the Cotton Marketing association of the state; W. D. Bullard, of the National Pecan Growers' exchange, Albany; and J. G. Oliver, state agent, State College of Agriculture, Athens, are among those attending the sessions.

At the afternoon session, Carl Williams, former president of the American Cotton Growers' exchange, of Oakland City, spoke on the effect of cooperative marketing on price levels and declared the result was that in his state of Oklahoma the average increase in income to every farm home was $100 a year against the relative income four years ago before the formation of the cotton cooperatives.

He made the street buyers pay more nearly the daily New York prices than they did before we organized our own selling association," said Mr. Williams, and continuing, he said "the cotton growers are producers and the business public, a benefit I fear that is not fully appreciated by even many of our most far-sighted business men."

Leaders To Rush Emergency Bill

Washington, January 5.—An emergency deficiency bill carrying $157,111,700 was reported today by the house appropriations committee with instructions to rush it to the senate within the week.

Of the total $150,000,000 would be available for the payment of illegally collected taxes, $3,501,200 for construction of work on the Mississippi Muscle Shoals, Ala., and $2,000,000 for purchase of the capital stock of the newly created inland waterways corporation.

Other items include $275,000 for prevention of epidemic diseases, to be used particularly in eradicating reported bubonic plague among rats at the port of New Orleans and Oakland, Cal.; $150,000 for repair work on the coast guard cutter Manning; $25,000 for eradication of insect infestation in national parks.

The measure also would provide $15,000 for the installation of additional five protective devices at the naval observatory, Washington; $14,000 for expenses of messengers conveying the count of the electoral vote to Washington; and $7,500 for additional personnel in the office of the commandant of the coast guard.

Shoals Appropriation.
The $3,501,200 carried for Muscle Shoals, the report said, is the remainder of $10,501,200 authorized for the project, and this amount coupled with the 3,040,300 carried into the war department, bill now pending will complete the No. 2, the third of the bill and all apparatus ready for the delivery of power.

"It is estimated," the report added, "that work being carried on at Muscle Shoals will be completed by mid-summer and funds for continuation of the work will be depleted about the middle of January. The urgency of this item is therefore apparent."

Items recommended in the bill comprise those sums considered so urgent that it would be unwise to delay their enactment. They are a contribution to funds carried in regular supply bills now pending which will not be available until after next July 1.

The committee report showed total internal revenue receipts for the last eight years, including the first quarter of 1925, amounted to $27,599,212,455, exclusive of $2,530,336, 147, listed as assessment and collections resulting from office audits and field investigations.

Refunds over this period, including the 25 per cent refund of 1923, were placed at $404,871,672.72.

Taxes Refunded.
Refunds now made to 253,329 taxpayers in 1923, to 192,252 tax payers in the fiscal year 1924 and 41,324 in the five months of the fiscal year 1925, exclusive, however, of $2,576,614 refunds under the 25 per cent reduction in taxes.

The committee refused to appropriate $12,000,000 requested for refunds for next year, preferring to make this sum available as the money might be required.

SUPREME COURT BACKS NEW YORK KOSHER LAW

Washington, January 5.—The supreme court today declared valid and constitutional the kosher laws of New York.

The decision upheld the state courts in cases brought by the Hyman Provision company, Lewis & Fox company and Harry Satz.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is indurated circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation, make a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 3,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

Chicago Loses Long Fight Over Lake Michigan Water

Washington, January 5.—Upon Secretary of War Weeks rests the Herculean task of cutting down the amount of water Chicago takes from Lake Michigan from 10,000 cubic feet per second to 4,167 cubic feet within the next 60 days, according to a supreme court decision Monday.

The supreme court action, decreeing that the federal government was empowered to regulate the amount of water to be withdrawn by the sanitary district of Chicago from Lake Michigan, settled a controversy which has waged between both Canadian and American cities in the Great Lakes basin for more than 20 years.

The decision Monday upheld the lower court's injunction, ordered the sanitary district of Chicago to cease withdrawing more than 4,167 cubic feet per second allowed by the war department's permit.

What action Weeks will take in enforcing the supreme court order is not known. The injunction has been ordered to go into effect within 60 days "without prejudice to any further permit which may be issued by the secretary of war."

If the flow of water is restricted, counsel for Chicago argued, the city's sewage will be carried into the lake and immediately pollute the water for more than 3,000,000 people, probably causing an epidemic. It was pointed out that the installation of the necessary filtration plants would cost more than $100,000,000 and would take 15 to 25 years to complete.

Should the decision be enforced to the letter, Chicago will have to provide other means of obtaining drainage water within the two-month period. Upon Weeks rests the enforcement and the secretary Monday night refused to make comment.

The Chicago canal has been drawing approximately 10,000 cubic feet per second from Lake Michigan for many years and the litigation to block the withdrawal was started in 1908. Practically every city and state bordering on the Great Lakes was represented in the hearing.

Attack Upon Cooperatives By Henry Ford Is Answered

Washington, D. C., January 5.—(Special).—Judge R. W. Bingham of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the National Council of Farmers' Cooperative Marketing associations, in opening the third annual meeting of that organization here today, replied vigorously to attacks made in Henry Ford's magazine during the past six months. These attacks, Judge Bingham declared, although made by a man whom he said all respect, were "in the nature of a personal attack" and one with tremendous resources and power, had not stopped one cooperative marketing association.

The speaker further declared that "as against the attack of Mr. Ford and his kind, we have for example, the direct, earnest persistent support of the president of the United States, the president of the Senate, the patriotic financiers throughout the country."

100 Coops. Represented.
When the council opened today, representatives from more than 100 cooperative associations throughout the country were present. J. E. Conell, president of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Cooperative association, Atlanta; C. R. Ware, director of both the Georgia Cotton Cooperative and the American Cotton Growers' exchange, Lawrenceville; W. A. Reeves, of the Cotton Marketing association of the state; W. D. Bullard, of the National Pecan Growers' exchange, Albany; and J. G. Oliver, state agent, State College of Agriculture, Athens, are among those attending the sessions.

At the afternoon session, Carl Williams, former president of the American Cotton Growers' exchange, of Oakland City, spoke on the effect of cooperative marketing on price levels and declared the result was that in his state of Oklahoma the average increase in income to every farm home was $100 a year against the relative income four years ago before the formation of the cotton cooperatives.

He made the street buyers pay more nearly the daily New York prices than they did before we organized our own selling association," said Mr. Williams, and continuing, he said "the cotton growers are producers and the business public, a benefit I fear that is not fully appreciated by even many of our most far-sighted business men."

Leaders To Rush Emergency Bill

Washington, January 5.—An emergency deficiency bill carrying $157,111,700 was reported today by the house appropriations committee with instructions to rush it to the senate within the week.

Of the total $150,000,000 would be available for the payment of illegally collected taxes, $3,501,200 for construction of work on the Mississippi Muscle Shoals, Ala., and $2,000,000 for purchase of the capital stock of the newly created inland waterways corporation.

Other items include $275,000 for prevention of epidemic diseases, to be used particularly in eradicating reported bubonic plague among rats at the port of New Orleans and Oakland, Cal.; $150,000 for repair work on the coast guard cutter Manning; $25,000 for eradication of insect infestation in national parks.

The measure also would provide $15,000 for the installation of additional five protective devices at the naval observatory, Washington; $14,000 for expenses of messengers conveying the count of the electoral vote to Washington; and $7,500 for additional personnel in the office of the commandant of the coast guard.

Shoals Appropriation.
The $3,501,200 carried for Muscle Shoals, the report said, is the remainder of $10,501,200 authorized for the project, and this amount coupled with the 3,040,300 carried into the war department, bill now pending will complete the No. 2, the third of the bill and all apparatus ready for the delivery of power.

"It is estimated," the report added, "that work being carried on at Muscle Shoals will be completed by mid-summer and funds for continuation of the work will be depleted about the middle of January. The urgency of this item is therefore apparent."

Items recommended in the bill comprise those sums considered so urgent that it would be unwise to delay their enactment. They are a contribution to funds carried in regular supply bills now pending which will not be available until after next July 1.

The committee report showed total internal revenue receipts for the last eight years, including the first quarter of 1925, amounted to $27,599,212,455, exclusive of $2,530,336, 147, listed as assessment and collections resulting from office audits and field investigations.

Refunds over this period, including the 25 per cent refund of 1923, were placed at $404,871,672.72.

Taxes Refunded.
Refunds now made to 253,329 taxpayers in 1923, to 192,252 tax payers in the fiscal year 1924 and 41,324 in the five months of the fiscal year 1925, exclusive, however, of $2,576,614 refunds under the 25 per cent reduction in taxes.

The committee refused to appropriate $12,000,000 requested for refunds for next year, preferring to make this sum available as the money might be required.

Can't Be Cured From the Outside

External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is indurated circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation, make a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 3,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW LARGE GAIN

Further indication of Atlanta's growing prosperity is given in postal figures for 1924 which were made public Monday by Postmaster E. K. Large. Receipts for the year were $3,488,268.13 as compared to $3,253,905.74 for 1923, an advance of $142,362.39.

Postmaster Large pointed out that the receipts over a period of 10 years showed an increase of about $2,000,000, or 133 per cent. In the matter of cancellation, which takes in only first-class mail, the gain was $1,822,064 more letters passed through the machine during the months of January than in the corresponding months of 1923.

Several thousands more packages also were handled this year than last. Mr. Large stated that further evidence of the increase in volume of business done by the Atlanta postoffice in the past two years is given in announcements that the local office has not had a losing week in the last two years.

LIVE BLACKBIRDS SOUGHT FOR USE AT YAARAB DANCE

Popular query as to what Yaarab Temple wants with 3,000 live blackbirds, advertised for sale, which has been running in the Atlanta papers for several days was answered Monday when it was announced that Yaarab Temple is going to give a blackbird dance at the Auditorium Wednesday night.

Inasmuch as only "four-and-twenty" are needed for the pie, that will be before the king, it portending the familiar Mother Goose rhyme, that is all the dead ones that will be needed—the rest must be alive. Just how they will be used is a matter Noble Elbert Thorburn, Atlanta publisher of the dance, and Nobles Enrico Leide and Virgil Shepard, his able assistants, are keeping a close secret.

On Tuesday night, however, the dance, and Nobles Enrico Leide and Virgil Shepard, his able assistants, are keeping a close secret.

Municipal Ad Valorem Taxes In Atlanta Lowest in U. S.

Municipal ad valorem taxes in Atlanta are the lowest of any city of the United States, the annual rate being $1.05, while Cincinnati, the city with the next lowest tax rate, pays $1.70, or about 65 per cent more, it was revealed Monday in an industrial survey report made by Lamar Lyndon, consulting engineer of New York and also a municipal authority, to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Atlanta's resources, innumerable advantages and opportunities in all lines of civic, industrial and commercial development are covered in the report. The industrial bureau of the chamber sponsored the movement and the survey was due to the energy of Paul H. Norcross, retiring president; Fred H. Newell, secretary of the bureau; B. S. Barker, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and a group of Atlanta business men who took a leading part.

The primary mission of the survey was to promote creation of new industrial plants in Atlanta and vicinity in order to develop the city's population and contribute to its wealth.

Presented Gold Watch.
About five months were spent in preparation of the survey. Mr. Lyndon left no stone unturned to secure information concerning resources, facilities and opportunities for Atlanta. In recognition of this fact, Mr. Lyndon was presented with a beautiful gold watch as a token of appreciation of his work.

A casual inspection of the unpublished documents reveals the continual growth of Atlanta, with rapid increases in bank clearings, total bank resources, population, and construction of new buildings. The data also shows the large number of excellent positions at good salaries continuously filled and young, therefore, are an incentive to young and ambitious men to come to Atlanta to make this city their permanent home.

Investigation of labor conditions in Atlanta discloses amiable relationship between the employer and the employee. This condition is proven by the fact that within 21 months, which elapsed from January 1, 1922, to October 1, 1924, the total cost of building construction done in the city and vicinity exceeded $74,000,000. During this period there was only one strike, and that on one job, involving 65 carpenters, and lasted three days. Such a record is unparalleled, it is believed, in the history of any community.

Waterworks Department.
The water works department in 1924 made a net cash profit of around $500,000 for the year, this not including the free service which the municipality obtains for fire hydrants, street cleaning, sewer flushing and use in municipal and charitable institutions. If the water company were privately operated and these items credited at the proper annual rate there would be another quarter of a million dollars of profit to add to the half million which actually has been earned. Anticipated returns for 1925 will be even greater, it is believed.

Additional holdings on the Chattahoochee river must be acquired and a dam erected across it. If the extensions and additions recommended by Paul Norcross, city consulting engineer, are carried out, the dam will form a storage reservoir, a water supply during dry seasons, a settling basin for clearing the water of silt and other objectionable substances, reduce the pump lifting and provide sufficient head to produce power wherever it is operated the pumping machinery, Mr. Norcross stated.

Total retail business for the expenditures of living, including only purchases and excluding all rentals, was approximately $50,000,000. Investigation of factory sites and locations for industrial plants showed that there is a large number and that they are located in nearly every section of the metropolitan area and all facilities are provided.

The Atlanta & West Point railway has been very active in its attempts to induce industries to locate along its tracks in Oakland City. As a result 25 different industries have located in the vicinity within the last four years.

The Central of Georgia is also laying sidetracks and preparing for an industrial development between Atlanta and East Point.

COTTON LINTERS CASE DISMISSED BY COURT

Washington, January 5.—The supreme court today dismissed because not properly brought a case which sought to have decided whether owners of cotton gins were liable for cotton linters during the war because of requisitions issued by the federal government were entitled to recover the difference between the market value at the time they were prohibited from selling to anyone except the government, and the market price they obtained when they were able to sell the requisition orders. The case was brought by the United States Bedding company.

SEDUCTION CHARGE AGAINST ATTORNEY IN MACON DROPPED

Macon, Ga., January 5.—The Bibb county grand jury today returned a "no bill" after investigating the seduction charge brought against Attorney E. F. Goodrum, of Macon, by Mrs. Mattie C. Nolte, one of Goodrum's clients.

Goodrum had Mrs. Nolte arrested recently and placed in jail on a lacy writ. After she had been incarcerated, she employed counsel and had Goodrum arrested on a seduction charge for which he gave bond in the sum of $1,000. Since that time, the charge against Mrs. Nolte has been dropped by the county commission, that passes on lacy cases. The charge against Goodrum will be dismissed also.

Goodrum states that he first had Mrs. Nolte arrested because she threatened him.

New Municipal Golf Course At Lakewood Recommended; Other Improvements Asked

Enlargement of Swimming Pool at Piedmont Park Is Urged in Annual Report of Committee.

Extensive improvements are recommended by the city parks committee in its annual report, submitted to the council late Monday.

Among improvements urged are a new conservatory, a new bathhouse, with pavilion, at Piedmont park, enlargement of Piedmont park swimming pool, and appropriation of adequate funds for the G. V. Grass zoo to purchase new animals and replace those that have died during previous years.

One of the most important recommendations is the development of Candler park. The committee on parks also strongly requested continued development of Maddox, Mozley and other parks and purchase of additional land for community parks.

The forestry department reported that 650 trees were planted during the year just ended. There were 395 trees pruned, 29 under-pruned, 302 cut down and 7 treated.

Inadequate Bathing Facilities. Especial attention is called to the inadequate bathing facilities of Piedmont park's swimming pool and bathhouse.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calabats, the nameless Calabats tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style cologne herebefore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calabats at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, no slight interference with eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calabats are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommend and guarantee by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—(adv.)

Players of the municipal courses are allowed to play the links twice (18 holes) for 25 cents. No season tickets are sold to these courses.

The number of players on the Piedmont links in 1924 was 7,738 at 25 cents each, making a total of $1,934.50. In 1923, the total number of players on this course was 42,647, or a total in receipts of $10,661.75 for the year.

Players on the James L. Key golf course increased 13,036 from 1,922 through the year 1924. The total number of players in 1924 was 2,692, with total receipts of $673. Number of players in 1923 was 10,728, or a total in receipts of $3,932.

Feed-Filled Bags Used by Yeggs To Silence Job

Jackson, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—Yeggs, who blew open the safe in the office of the Southern railway at Jackson Sunday night, made a haul estimated to be between three and four hundred dollars. All the cash in the safe, which was wrecked with dynamite, was taken. Checks were left. The cracksmen escaped, leaving no clues.

Entrance to the office was made through the front door. The office was littered with debris. The sound was muffled by piling sacks of feed on the safe, and though persons living in the neighborhood are reported to have heard the explosion, it was not until the office was opened Monday morning that the burglary was detected.

The station is nearly a mile from the business district and there were no policemen in the immediate neighborhood. Cars were reported in that portion of town during the night. That the job was the work of professionals is the belief of officers who investigated the robbery.

AUGUSTA'S NEW MAYOR HITS 'EXTRAVAGANCES'

Augusta, Ga., January 5.—(Special.)—William P. White, Augusta's new mayor, and eight new councilmen, took office today. This is Mayor White's second term. He has succeeded three years ago by Julian M. Smith, whom he succeeded today.

The new mayor said in his inaugural address in city council today before a large audience, declared: "What calls itself the progressive element in city council is responsible for unfavorable publicity that has been given to the city by the extravagances of its members."

The new mayor said he had been informed that "the administration just retired spent over $500,000 more in 1924 than it appropriated, and that notwithstanding the published statement of my predecessor to the contrary the city cannot now legally borrow any money. The address, characteristically brief, labeled the action of a recent meeting of council in creating the new office of superintendent of labor 'the extravagant spending of the people's money and the creation of a useless job.'"

Mayor White also referred to the proposed increase of tax assessments from two-thirds actual value to 100 per cent tax valuation as being "highly undesirable."

Pleading for cooperation of members of council, Mr. White said: "If this administration, or any other administration, is to be successful, there must, of necessity, be cooperation."

Mayor White and Councilmen Marion Potter and Mollie Luster appeared in police court today on a minor charge in knickers, but it cost both of them 10 hours in jail. Judge J. P. Marrs looked at the long coat and knicker suit and ordered the coats removed. When the knickers were revealed, Judge Marrs decided it was contempt of court and handed out the punishment.

NEW OFFICIALS ACTIVE IN FORSYTH.

Immediately after the new council was sworn in, the election of officers was held. H. Grady Jackson succeeds H. M. Abernathy as chief of police. Floyd King, keeper of the water station, and W. D. Cochran, street overseer, are both new men. City Attorney B. S. Webb, city clerk, W. Y. Andrews, superintendent of water and light, N. H. Sherrod and Lester Grant, night policemen.

FOUR MEN GET $5,000 FOR BANDIT'S CAPTURE

7th Georgia Regiment Survivors Win Fight For Share of Estate

Washington, January 5.—The Association of Survivors of the Seventh Georgia regiment, an unincorporated association of Georgia, today won its fight for a fifth share in the estate of Maria F. McCoy, a large portion of which is said to consist of real estate in Georgia. The district court of appeals, in an opinion by Justice Robb, reversed the decision of Chief Justice McCoy, of the district supreme court, which had refused to recognize the association as being the beneficiary intended by the testatrix.

The lower court had held that there was nothing in the will of Miss McCoy to indicate that the association was intended in the bequest, which read: "One-third of the Seventh Georgia regiment of Georgia."

The lower court declared the first volunteer regiment of Georgia appeared to be the organization in the mind of the testatrix and awarded the fifth share of the estate to that regiment. The Association of Survivors appealed and Justice Robb today decided in its favor.

ARREST OF MEANS ORDERED BY COURT

New York, January 5.—Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, failed to appear in court today to stand trial on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice, and Federal Judge Lindley ordered the issuance of a bench warrant for his arrest.

He held in abeyance the forfeiture of a $10,000 bail bond pending investigation of a claim that Means was compelled by sickness to remain at Concord, N. C.

Thomas B. Felder and Elmer W. Jarnecke, co-defendants with Means, were present. Jarnecke, former secretary to Mr. Means, changed his plea to guilty. It was understood that he would be a witness for the government.

Means, Felder, his attorney, and Jarnecke were jointly indicted by the United States grand jury for alleged bribery on accusations made by members of the defunct Altona Glass Casket company that the trio accepted $65,000 to bribe former Attorney General Daingerfield, United States Attorney William Hayward and other government officials in connection with the fraudulent sale of stock of the company, for which 40 defendants were tried.

Adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning, while the report of Means' condition is investigated.

MEANS TOO SICK TO MAKE TRAIN TRIP.

Concord, N. C., January 5.—Gaston B. Means, his physician, Dr. Joe A. Howell, and Mrs. Means all declared today that Means is suffering too much with gallstones to go to New York for trial.

Means, when seen at the home of his mother, with whom he has been living for several weeks, declared he was not in condition to give the matter of the New York case the thought it demanded and he did not know what he would do if the bench warrant ordered by Judge Lindley in New York today was served on him while he is in bed.

Means declared he was suffering too much with gallstones to worry about the bench warrant. Dr. Howell said Means had been under treatment for gallstones for about four weeks and that he had raised an operation, but Means had not decided whether to submit to the operation or not. The statement was corroborated by Means' mother, the latter explaining that several weeks ago, when physicians had advised an operation, it was postponed in the hope that his condition might not become acute.

In replying to questioning, Means declared he was in too much pain and too tired to discuss the case. Moreover, he said, he was too stupid to talk intelligently, from the effects of a narcotic given him today by his physician to relieve the acute pain.

During the month of December the Georgia treasury received $2,109,320.59 and paid out $1,000,554.54, according to figures announced Monday by State Treasurer W. J. Speight, who stated that these figures indicated that December was one of the best months in the history of the treasury.

It was a month of unusual activity, some of the largest single sums of money in years being paid out. One warrant for more than half a million dollars went to the state schools and Confederate veteran pensioners received $226,000. The treasury will be put to a severe strain in February, when $2,250,000 of discounted 1924 school warrants fall due.

Famous Finnish Star Makes American Debut

Paavo Nurmi Will Find Plenty of Competition On Board Tracks of New York

RADIO TO CARRY RACE RESULTS

New York, January 5.—For the first time in the history of track events, details of a foot race will be broadcast Tuesday night when Paavo Nurmi of Finland runs his two races at Madison Square Garden.

The story of Nurmi's races will be broadcast by Gimbel Brothers' station, WGBS, by arrangement with the United Press and the New York Illustrated Daily News. The wave-length will be 316 meters.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, January 5.—Paavo Nurmi, the fish-eating Finn, who won four races and three heats in six days at the Olympic games in France last summer, will wallopp the planks of a board track for the first time in his life at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night in two races, one of which will bring out five of America's best runners to make him hurry.

Nurmi will run a mile race against Jole Ray, who has run a mile indoors faster than any other man that ever lived; Jimmie Conolly, Walter Higgins, Le Larriere and Lloyd Hahn, starting at ten minutes of nine. One hour and 40 minutes later he will come back to the board circle and run a 5,000-meter course, a little less than three miles, but his most formidable opponent in this race will be another Finn, Willie Ritola, who has run many races in the American winter meets and who has thoroughly adjusted his stride to the difference between an earth track and the unyielding boards of an indoor bowl.

The Finnish-American Athletic club, of New York, induced Nurmi to come across the Atlantic and run, and he seems to have been inspired by a sense of affection for the little, frost-bitten land that he represents, rather than by any desire to become a big over grandeur before a large nation.

He willingly came across the Atlantic in second-class staterooms and has done miles of leg-work since he landed, dodging the attentions that New York usually showers on great athletic celebrities from the ponder side.

Now his name on the billing has sold the entire capacity of Madison square and the best seat in the American Athletic club can offer him is the best suite on the vessel that takes him home.

It is impossible to buy a ticket for the races even from the scalpers. With well-directed publicity, the first appearance of Nurmi in an American race has been built up to the size of the old indoor marathon, which stowed the customers in all the odd corners of the garden many years ago.

It is true that there are a dozen other great athletes on the program of races but it is also true that these star events have been rather common in New York in winter and his arrival is difficult to find seats. The name of Nurmi, the name of the man who won the 5,000 meters, the 10,000 meters and the 15,000 meters cross-country at Colombes, France; the man who patterned right foot timing himself with a watch in his hand, ignoring the field, while the highly-trained athletes were dropping, exhausted, behind him, has sold out Madison Square Garden.

Trained on skis, it is not strictly accurate to report that Nurmi has never run on the boards at all, for he has been training on the boards ever since he came to America. But has never yet raced on them, or raced in such an enclosure as the garden, where the air becomes thick and poisonous with a full house in attendance. He will be facing new conditions when he starts to flap his ankles in competition with Jole Ray in the atmosphere that Ray seems to like best.

Ray, a Chicagoan, holds the world indoor record for the mile run, 4 minutes, 14.2 seconds. Ray is short of competition just now and may not be able to run his best race, for it is true that he usually does his best when he has a few races under his belt. However, Nurmi has none under his belt, either.

Conolly and Higgins have had some recent competition. Conolly ran a winning mile indoors in 4:19.4 less than a week ago and Higgins in the same race did 4:21. Both have done better. Hahn and Larriere, Bostonians, are regarded as 4:20 men.

Ritola Set For Him.

Willie Ritola intended to run in both the mile and the 5,000 meters but he probably will withdraw from the mile so as to be fresh to give Nurmi a race in the longer event. There seems to be no love-and-hisses friendship between the two, though they do salute the same flag. At Colombes last summer, Nurmi wanted Ritola to kill off some of the other runners in one of the races and let him, Nurmi, win it for Finland. Ritola said he would run into the ground anybody who got under his feet, particularly Paavo Nurmi, and he gave Nurmi a broiling chase for the victory.

Verne Booth, George Lemond, Fred Wachsmuth and Gunnar Nilsson are the other entrants in the 5,000.

The calls for the other races will summon great runners to the mark: Alan Hedrick, Jake Driscoll, Jimmy Burgess, Vernon Archer and Francis Daley will run in the 500 meters. Loren Murchison, Alan Woodring, Ray Robertson, Cyril Coaffee, Vincent Lally and Eddie Narrell will be in the mile. The 1,500 meters will be run by Coffey, Frank Hussey and Larry Rawlings in the 50 meters. There are 10 teams in the two sections of the mile relay and the high-jump field consists of Hal Osborne, Clarence Flahive, Emerson Norton, Tom Halloran and Eddie Everard.

BASEBALL'S DAZZLE SHOWS TARNISH IN WASHINGTON

Washington, January 5.—Enthusiasm for baseball that nearly broke the wheels of government in October, cooled off a bit today in the snow clad nation's capital.

A move to call up in the house a resolution to accept a $100,000 gift from the American league for erection in Washington of a monument to the game brought objection from many members. None of those opposing the proposal gave any reasons, and friends of the resolution are wondering if a vote would be better off at another time.

The main trouble with the athletic team, as we see it, is in their last two games, is inability to get into action at the first of the proceedings. In the Clemson game the phenomenal play of Grant at ten points before the locals got started, and last night the Bulldogs had a half dozen points to their credit, but the team that the bulls-eye for a soldier marker.

Nolan Richardson, former Tech High ace and declared by many to have been the best cage artist to perform in Atlanta prep circles, at forward, and Harris, rangy center, wrote the sharpest teeth of the Bulldogs' offense, while Grant, at center, was the sharpest teeth of the Bulldogs' defense. The Bulldogs' attack was a combination of the Big Bertha of the soldiers' attack, eating the hoops for 18 points and subsequent high point honors of the Clemson game, 17 points.

Tadesco and Morris also played neat games for the Infantry. Five-Point Margin.

As intimated in the lead of this story, the Bulldogs jumped into the lead with the initial kick and held it safely until the half way point was reached with the score standing 15 to 12, the margin of difference being the same as it was at the end of the game.

By way of comparisons, the game also resembled the soldiers' Saturday night offering from another angle. In both games they picked up in their playing, caught and passed the ball in the second half, and during the middle part of the second period the affair assumed a nip and tuck nature with one team leading for a short time, but then the other scrambling back on top of the heap. The soldiers were kept in the lead at this stage mainly through the phenomenal playing of Grant at forward. He was showing exuberant way and his individual dribbling and shooting ability stood out above everything else.

The fight was fast and furious and soon the pace began to tell on the soldiers, while the collegians sailed through the game without a sweat and without a fight and all through their schedule this year they will find their obligations in military matters in the terms of article 429.

"A further communication will be addressed to the German government on this subject."

EVACUATION NOTE HANDED GERMANY

Berlin, January 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Germany was informed by the inter-allied ambassadors today in an identical note that the allied troops would not evacuate the Cologne bridgehead January 10. The note was the outcome of the recent decision in assessing that Germany had not fulfilled the obligations she had accepted as a condition to evacuation.

Official comment on the note was confined to a brief communique in which the German government charges that the defaults cited as the basis for the allied refusal to evacuate the Cologne zone are of such a general nature and so completely lacking in material foundation that discussion of them must be deferred until the allied governments submit an amplifying note.

The German government, however, the communique declares, believes itself warranted in asserting that Germany has obtained the necessary evacuation of the Cologne bridgehead, and that the allied governments in this question will be communicating to the allied governments in the near future.

TRANSLATION OF NOTE HANDED TO GERMANY

London, January 5.—(By The Associated Press.)—An unofficial translation of the allied ambassadors' note to Germany on the postponement of the Cologne evacuation follows:

"In article 428 of the treaty of Versailles of June 28, 1919, stipulates that Germany territory situated to the west of the Rhine, together with the adjacent territory, shall be occupied by troops of the allied and associated powers during a period of 15 years to run from the entry into force of the treaty, as a guarantee for the execution of the treaty by Germany."

"By the terms of article 429, if the condition imposed by said treaty have been faithfully carried out by Germany, the occupation foreseen in article 428 shall successively be restricted at the expiration of the five and then the first ten years."

"The allied governments already are in position to inform the German government, without awaiting January 10, 1925, that they have obtained proof showing that Germany has not fulfilled by that date, the conditions imposed in article 429 so as to enable her to benefit by the clause relating to a partial evacuation."

"Thus, by merely referring to part of the treaty, sufficient ground is furnished for the decision of the allied governments to be in force in information collected by the inter-allied military commission of control, in spite of the obstruction in regard to the extent to which the military clauses have been carried out."

"For example, to mention only some essential points among facts already known, the following facts have been ascertained:

"In violation of article 100, the great general staff of the (German) army has been reconstituted in accordance with the provisions of article 108, the transformation of factories for the manufacture of war materials is far from being complete; contrary to articles 104 to 109, a surplus of every kind has been found to exist beyond the amounts of military material allowed, and considerable illicit stocks of war materials have been discovered; contrary to article 102, the Hehrson taken by the Bonn-Lönn conference of June 6, 1920, the reorganization of the state police has not begun; contrary to article 211, the German government is far from having taken all the legislative and administrative measures demanded by the allied governments in the note of September 29, 1922."

Send Another Note.

"The allied governments, moreover, expect to receive a report of the inter-allied commission of control giving the full results of the present general inspection. This report will enable them to determine what still remains to be done by Germany to carry out

Richardson Leads Georgia To Even Break in Atlanta; Grant Stars for Soldiers

BY JULIAN GRIFFIN.

The Bulldog basketball team of the University of Georgia made it an even break during their sojourn in Atlanta by trouncing the Twenty-second Infantry of Fort McPherson 35 to 30 at the fort last night. The contest was very interesting and the Bulldogs brought out only the usual neatness and superior physical condition the college boys enabled them to nose out an edge in the final box score.

WALKER CAME TO AMERICA ON TRAVERS' ADVICE

Champion Began Real Climb At Hoylake After Leaving Office for Golf Course

This is the third of a series of six articles in which Cyril Walker tells how he fought his way to the top of the golfing ladder to the American open championship against long odds that would have beaten many of us.

1924 American Open Golf Champion.

Perhaps, if I had stayed in England and lived the unhurried existence practiced there I would never have gotten into the condition that so nearly proved my undoing in America. However, circumstances conspired to bring about the change and in the long run it was to work out for my advantage.

As a matter of fact, it did not seem intended that I should be a professional golfer. My first ambition had been to be a stock broker and at 13 I was placed in the office of one of these men whom I wished to emulate.

I went to evening school and learned shorthand and bookkeeping. But meanwhile memories kept intruding which I could not down. I kept thinking of the beauties of the outdoor life I had enjoyed as a caddy. I remembered how I had succeeded in winning a caddy's competition. And I recalled the words of the club professional, who had watched me eating a quick, light lunch day after day, so I could take advantage of the privilege of practicing during the noon hour. "Great guns, you'd sooner play golf than eat."

Walker Loved Game. He was right. I loved the game and loved it dearly. And though I was able to keep in touch with it outside office hours, this was accomplished with difficulty. I began to long to be more intimate with it.

Inside work was not suited to my constitution, either. So that when I finally approached my father on the matter I found him in a receptive mood.

"I understand," I told him, "that the professionals in golf do very well financially, particularly if they rank high. I'd love to get into the business."

The upshot was that we went out to the Trafford park course and interviewed the man who subsequently was to tell me that I never would be able to play golf—"T. G. Renouf. And he agreed to give me a job as assistant when the opportunity offered.

Paid for Apprenticeship. This agreement was made in a way unknown to American golfers. My father paid Renouf a premium of five pounds and consented that I should be through a rigorous apprenticeship, which included working after hours to learn the difficult art of club making.

My father was through a rigorous apprenticeship, which included working after hours to learn the difficult art of club making. I was to be paid a weekly wage of eight shillings—just half that which I was getting in the stock broker's office.

In due time a vacancy arose and I was summoned to fill it. And thus my career as a professional golfer began.

My hours were long. But I got plenty of fresh air and exercise—the latter including a six-mile bicycle ride between my home and the club, morning and evening—and my physical condition grew steadily better.

As Renouf's assistant I got more opportunities to practice and a frequent chance to go around with members. My game picked up wonderfully until the day arrived when I shot the 69 which caused my brush with Renouf.

Dreams of New Place. This incident aroused in me a desire to get away from the Trafford Park club. I began to dream of a new connection. Naturally I thought it would be a great thing if I could get a job at one of the big championship courses.

Just about the time I reached this mood a friend of mine, a traveling salesman for a golf club concern, happened in. He was interested in me and he said:

"Say, if you ever want to make a change I can get you placed at Hoylake as assistant."

Hoylake! A championship course! The very thing I wanted! I told him to fix things up for me. It was at Hoylake that I really learned to play golf. Jack Morris, a brother of the celebrated Tom Morris, and a veteran of the game, and Jack Younts were my teachers.

But Morris was more or less inactive. He had been made an honorary member and had sold out his interest in the shop to Younts, who hired me as a clubmaker.

Played Expert Members. Morris spent most of his time playing with the older members, while Younts, being deeply interested in the profits of the shop, stuck rather closely to it. My game being pretty strong he often sent me out to play with the most expert members. Of course I benefited from this.

The British open championship was played at Hoylake in 1913. In the qualifying round I accomplished a feat which led me to conclude there was a real future for me on the links. At the end of the year I stood second in my section. Only Laurie Ayton was ahead of me. He had a 152 and I 153. I finished ahead of George Duncan, Harry Vardon, James Braid, Harold Hilton and other well-known

COACH DENIES "INVITING" STARS

Laramie, Wyo., January 5.—Coach "Lone Star" Dietz of the football department of the University of Wyoming, when shown a dispatch from Shreveport, La., saying that he had invited Cal Hubbard and four other football players from Centenary College to play with Wyoming, denied sending the invitation, stating that, while the men mentioned are all good players, he is satisfied with the material he has on hand at Laramie, and is working steadily for an improvement of the team.

He knows nothing, he said, of the report that some of Hubbard's personal effects have already been sent to the University of Wyoming. The coach declared he will do all he can personally to prevent the men from coming to Wyoming.

PORTPECULATION

by George Congdon

A New Commish?

Baseball's Hot Brick

Looking Ahead.

THIS is largely a dope shop, this intermittent department of infrequent comment and mostly foolishness. Therefore he it recorded as dope, the ooziest kind of the stuff, that 1925, by the time that it gets into its first short dresses, will see a boxing commission differing considerably from the roster of 1924. This is the city hall kind of dope, with which we are more or less unacquainted, but it holds any of the upsets recent football dope held, it isn't worth a continental h-o-r-o.

Mayor Sims, the ex-officio member whose name brings the personnel of the commission to seven in number, has not announced the commission for 1925. Not only that, he has refused to indulge in statements with meanings beyond whispering to friends who see him almost daily that there will be something like two members of the 1924 board on the 1925 list. These two are said to be Alderman Claude E. Buchanan and Walter Trippie.

THE other members of the commission are Bob Cobb, Jr., chairman; Jimmy Goldsmith, secretary; Henry Norton and Dr. M. B. Cappeloff, who replaced Dr. W. S. Goldsmith, when the latter resigned as examining physician. A couple of these members have talked it about some that they would like to be relieved of their jobs, but that they wouldn't want to come right out and resign before their terms are up.

The commission, during the last year, has acted wisely in some matters, has floundered a bit and run into jams on others, including drawing a threat from Walker Miller that he has been advised to sue the commission for $100,000 for holding up receipts of his Mike McTigue-Jimmy King boxing bout here recently. It has made a few dollars short of $500 in clear profit on 16 fights. It is the first boxing commission Atlanta has had. The few mistakes it may have made can be overlooked. We hope the next board, if it has the new faces doped, does as well as the present one.

JIMMY O'CONNELL, probably because he could not see beyond the end of his nose, as youth often cannot, has become the hot brick of baseball. We find in the day's news a yarn of a row that President Heydler of the National league stirred up when he found George Kelly, first baseman of the Giants, O'Connell's old club, had signed to play basketball in the same league with O'Connell on the Pacific coast. The rule of baseball, it is seen, extends beyond the realm of the diamond game.

Because he didn't want to "embarrass Kelly," the president of the basketball league has dropped O'Connell. That bars him from another sport in his home section. Suppose O'Connell goes into other lines of sport in an effort to make a living. Will his indignation in baseball bar him there, too? Jimmy O'Connell, the player John McGraw paid $75,000 for, probably has wished many times since his banishment from baseball that he had thought twice before he offered to bribe Heinie Sand just before the world's series, as baseball magnates claim he did.

PRIZE fighting is a remunerative business, if you make the grade and stay on top of the heap. Sully Montgomery, former Centre college football star, has gone into the ring game for the avowed purpose of making a quick financial success. The way of fighters, however, too frequently is "easy come, easy go," and after "easy go," nothing. Bill McGowan, a local light-heavyweight, has never made such a remarkable impression on fight crowds. He has made a living out of the game, but already he is looking ahead to the days when the ring won't support him.

McGowan is going to the Southern Business college—he started yesterday—to prepare himself for a place in the business world to go beyond the scrap game when it is through with him. He has been offered a scholarship by the school because he has always been an upright young fellow, anxious to fight cleanly at all times, and because of the ambition he has shown in lines outside of the ring. Did he say, "Aw, take your scholarship, that's too much trouble?" He did not. He took the opportunity. When he finishes with the ring, he'll look more than nothing in the face in the way of a future.

TY COBB'S LIFE STORY

Chapter XLIV.—The Cleveland Stabbing—Clubhouse Fights—Butcher Shop Row.

BY H. G. SALSINGER.

A volume could be written on "The Battle of Ty Cobb." He had a violent temper, a temper that he broke into the game, a temper that he has learned to control to some extent since his debut. He has become involved in many misunderstandings, disputes, arguments and fights. Of these, the most serious was a row over a slight matter that would not be noticed by all but few people. A light wrong, or an imagined wrong, could start a violent fit of anger.

Cobb's final fight with Schmidt has brought him into embarrassing scenes. It has led him into courts and, on at least one occasion, it resulted in great political influence. To save him from serious consequences, he fled in three different hotels. In a hotel in Cleveland, he was charged with seriously stabbing the night watchman. A warrant was issued for his arrest the next day, but he was out of town before it could be served.

The matter went to the grand jury and Cobb was placed in a delicate position. Political influence was used to get him out of the matter.

Fights With Schmidt. He had several fights with players, the best known of which were his two fights with Charlie Schmidt, Detroit catcher. One of these fights took place on the clay diamond of a southern ball field in the presence of the Detroit team. Players nunch him, mistook the "off" and struck the sidewalk, dislocating his thumb. Cobb was hauled to police station in a patrol wagon and was out of the game for some time because of the injured thumb.

Wide Publicity. The fight was given a vast amount of publicity at the time, but most of Cobb's other rows did not receive the same airing.

One time he was fined in police court for striking a negro street worker who had asked him not to step on freshly poured asphalt.

In May of 1912, Cobb got into a row in New York, and this fracas came near causing a break in the American league, although few blamed Cobb for the incident. In a Detroit New York game a spectator continued abusing Cobb after Cobb had asked him to stop his tactics. Cobb finally went into the grandstand and struck his tormentor. Later it was found that the victim of Cobb's assault was a cripple, a fact Cobb did not know when he attacked the man.

President B. B. Johnson of the American league suspended Cobb for this incident. The Detroit team went from New York to Philadelphia and here the players rallied to Cobb's support. They had demanded his reinstatement and when it was not granted they went on a strike in Philadelphia—the famous players' strike of 1912. Manager Jennings was compelled to go out and recruit a team of amateurs and semi-pros to play the franchise. Jim McGuire and Joe Sugden, veteran coaches, were the only two men on the Detroit payroll who had participated in that game which, in many ways, was the most unusual ever played in the majors. Philadelphia won by an overwhelming score.

Strike Is Settled. Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club, President Johnson and other baseball leaders rushed to Philadelphia to settle the strike. They finally succeeded in doing. Cobb remained suspended and the players went back to work.

In the spring of 1917 Detroit and New York were playing a series of exhibition games. The Giants, no longer in the "ring" game, had made Cobb the target of their abuse. The most abusive was "Buck" Herzog, later a manager. Herzog took Cobb to task for his "airs" in reporting for spring training and charged him with being "swell-headed," and so forth. Cobb told Herzog to save his comedy for the minor leagues and threatened to "get him" if he did not "lay off."

The two teams played in Dallas the next day. Herzog resumed his tactics. Near the middle of the game Cobb reached first. He went down on the first pitched ball. Herzog, ten feet inside of second, took the throw. Cobb sailed into him, spikes high. Cobb cut Herzog on the thigh. Herzog punched Cobb. They rolled on the ground, fighting. Finally they were separated. The umpires made a mistake in chasing Cobb and letting Herzog remain. That evening Herzog, word to Cobb that he would appear in Cobb's room and fight it out. He appeared. Cobb outweighed Herzog by about 40 pounds. He did not land any blows on Herzog, but roused him up considerably in the scuffling.

After five minutes of wrestling Herzog said he had enough

Decline of Fifty Points Seen in Cotton Monday

Table with 2 columns: RANGE IN NEW YORK COTTON, and RANGE IN NEW ORLEANS COTTON. It lists various cotton grades and their corresponding price ranges.

New York, January 5.—The influence of last week's figures on probable world crop were reflected by a further decline of half a cent in the cotton market today. The price of May deliveries broke from 24.45 to 23.90, or 55 points below Saturday's closing quotation and approximately 104 points under the high level early last week, then closed at 23.95, the general market closing steady at net declines of 44 to 51 points. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 8 points on continued firmness of sterling exchange and the fairly steady showing in the Liverpool cotton market. Optimistic cottons from the British goods trade expected early buying but the demand was soon supplied by southern, local and Wall street selling. A fresh heavy feature was connected with the decline which followed, but it looked as if recently increased crop figures had made a considerable impression on sentiment.

January Program Holds Social Events of Interest

With a lull in the social world following the cessation of many brilliant holiday festivities, given for popular college girls and lovely debutantes, comes the busy January program resuming the various activities of club women, the regular calendar of the social clubs and the continuance of informal parties.

Several important weddings are scheduled for this month, and the debutantes who have been so lavishly entertained will remain the center of attraction at a succession of social events. The outstanding affair of today will be the marriage of Miss Dorothy Elyea and Calhoun Emmet Minchener, which will take place at 3:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lucien Elyea.

Mrs. Trammell Scott will entertain at a large afternoon tea honoring her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Emmerson, who has recently returned from a five months' stay in the Orient. The tea-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore, always a popular mid-week event, will assemble a number of congenial parties, the largest one being in honor of Misses Aileen Harris, Catherine Raine, Mary Ballenger, Constance Cone and Ewing Baldwin, of Montgomery, Ala., at which Mrs. Evelyn Harris and Mrs. Frank Boland will be the hostesses.

The regular monthly meeting of the Junior league will take place at the Piedmont Driving club this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at this time final plans will be made for the "Follies," before the arrival of the director, Ned Weyburn, January 17. The supper-dance this evening at the Capital City club will be a delightful occasion assembling many so-

An array of lovely spring flowers was attractively used throughout the house. In the dining room, a large silver basket filled with the same fragrant flowers was used as a central decoration. Yellow tapers burned in silver candleholders.

Mrs. Kiser received her guests wearing a lovely gown of coral-colored chiffon, fashioned over satin of the same color.

Covers were placed for 14 guests, who were Mr. and Mrs. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, Mrs. and Mrs. James L. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. James

Miss Valeria Manley will give a bridge-luncheon on Thursday at the home, on Peachtree road, of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Manley, in honor of Miss King.

Miss Raine Given Birthday Party.

Miss Dorothy Raine, one of the popular members of the school girl set, was honored at a buffet supper on Sunday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raine, at their home on West Peachtree street in celebration of her sixteenth birthday.

The lace covered table had in the center a vase of poinsettias and red candles burned unshaded in the silver candlesticks. The beautifully engossed cake had 16 tiny candles, representing the happy years spent by the honor guest.

The guest list included a small number of friends of this third one of a group of charming sisters.

Southern Society To Give New Year's Ball.

The Southern Society of Washington, D. C., has issued invitations to a New Year's ball, Thursday evening, January 8, in the main ballroom of the New Willard hotel.

Wade H. Cooper is president of the society and William DeC. Ravenel is secretary.

Miss Mitchell Is Tea Hostess.

As a delightful compliment to Miss Peggy Porter, who is home for the holidays, was the informal tea at which Miss Margaret Mitchell was hostess on Sunday afternoon at her home on Peachtree road.

Miss Peggy Porter is a student at Fassett school, in Hendersonville, N. C. this year.

Yellow chrysanthemums and pink roses made a beautiful decoration throughout the house. Placed in bowls and vases and arranged on tables, and bouquets, they made a most attractive decoration.

Miss Goddard Being Entertained in Macon.

Macon, Ga., January 5.—Miss Mary Goddard, of Atlanta, the popular guest of Miss Eugenia Coleman, has been the inspiration of a series of beautiful parties since her arrival in Macon on Wednesday.

On Saturday her hostess complemented her with two very lovely functions, a seated luncheon at 1:30 o'clock, and an evening party.

Fifty members of the sub-debutante contingent were luncheon guests and the lovely home of the Coleman's was beautiful in holiday attire, and fragrant hot house flowers, and blooming plants.

Mrs. Samuel Taylor Coleman, the hostess' mother, received in the dining room, assisted by Frederick Collins, of Seattle, Wash.; Paul Bancroft, of San Francisco, Calif.; Ed Gurr, of Ithaca, N. Y.; Samuel Coleman, Jr., and Robert Hatcher.

The affair was in honor of Miss Gray Poole, of Atlanta, who is a guest of the hostess for the week-end.

Seated at the table were Miss Poole of Atlanta; Miss Mary Goddard, of Atlanta; Katherine Winslow, Miss Eugenia Coleman, Miss Mary Hall, Miss Margaret Killen, Miss Emily Cunningham, Miss Roberta Jones, Miss Madge Jordan, Miss Elizabeth Holcombe, Miss Elizabeth Little, Miss Katherine McClure, Miss Lena Lamar, Miss Elmyr Park and Miss Helen Harrold.

Red Hair and Blue Sea

By Stanley R. Osborn.

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

SYNOPSIS.
Palmyra Tree, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the south sea, is started to see a sinister hand with a black mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren. She is not certain which she loves, of that sinister hand, but tells no one her purpose. She discovers that the owner of that sinister hand is a smuggler of opium and opium. She permits her glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him. Palmyra does the savage brown man a good turn.

Palmyra gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren. Burke and Olive leave the yacht at Honolulu, and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhabited island, faced with starvation. Burke appears on the "Pigeon of Noah" and promises to rescue them. Palmyra goes on board alone to investigate and finds herself a prisoner. Burke calls away with her, telling her it was he who wrecked the Rainbow. Thurston and Van Buren start at dawn in a vain pursuit. Burke outlines his plan to Palmyra of making her queen of Tanna island, and grows ugly at her refusal to listen to his love-making. He decides to leave her alone on a deserted island for a few months with barely enough food to last until he shall return for her. In terror Palmyra faces her first night alone.

In the morning she sees Olive, the brown man, swimming toward her. Exhausted from a long swim, he falls asleep. When he awakes he attempts to speak. Finally he communicates to her the idea that he and she are to swim away together in the limitless ocean. Making a life preserver of coconut husks, they start their trip across an empty ocean. They rest at night on a barren beach. In the morning Olive motions her to lie down while he starts reconnoitering the island. Palmyra manages to send a message for help as they start their ocean journey. Burke's ship is again seen in pursuit of them. By clever maneuvering Olive eludes Burke, and Palmyra is delighted to find they are landing.

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII. PALMYRA A DELILAH.

As the savage lay asleep, the knife sheath on his belt was uppermost. When the girl's eyes reopened they became fixed upon that blade. It was very close. Almost she could reach out and touch the handle. She thought of the other times she would have disarmed him.

Slowly she drew the weapon forth.

She helped herself to a third banana, and stared at the knife. Now that good Mother Earth had eased the numb misery of bone and muscle, Palmyra was reverting to her original instinct of hostility. The reaction had come more slowly here than on that other island. During the lifetime intervening he had gained an ascendancy over her. But, back again in her own element, she loathed this creature who had abducted her; who, after all she had suffered at his hands, refused her one drink of water.

As she sat, her fingers went out once and again experimentally toward the knife, and were withdrawn. The savage, contrary to her expectations, did not awake to accuse her. She knew by now it really made no difference who had the knife. Her impulse was merely such an expression of helplessness as caused the child, powerless in adult hands, to find relief in trivial violence, obviously futile.

Her strongest feeling in this juvenile mood seemed anger, not at his crime, but at his method. He kept on treating her like a child. When he wished her to move, he snatched her up as an infant, heedless of her kicks and squalls. When he wanted sleep, he fell asleep in the assurance she was too infantile to seek safety in flight. And, as for the water, when she voiced a perfectly natural, terribly imperative need—a mere whim! Was it not maddening?

A third time, then, her hand went out—and closed upon the wooden handle. The knife was loose in the sheath. Slowly she drew the weapon forth.

The girl was thrilled, intimidated by her success. Olive had become so much the ogre that she had had the feeling it would be impossible, in slightest degree to thwart him. Yet here, by reaching out her hand, she had his precious knife.

But, disconcertingly, she discovered now she did not know what to do next. She looked at the blade and then at that bare breast. He thought her such an infant. Yet, one blow—and she could take his life.

She did not shudder at the thought as she had once before. Association had made a serious purpose no longer possible. She only glowed in a new sense of power, restoring her self-esteem, her good humor.

Quickly, however, this elation faded. In its place she found, to her surprise, a touch of guilt, as if she had been untrue to a trust. He had trusted her, and now, lying there in all his strength, he was like Samson. How had Delilah felt as the shears cut through the last of those locks? But Palmyra was not irrevocably the Delilah, for she could restore the knife.

She was, indeed, leaning forward with that purpose, when the savage awoke. Panic-stricken, the girl jerked back, not in fear of his anger, but in a guilty apprehension that, seeing the knife above him, he might think she attempted murder.

Unaware, the brown man sat up at once, looked at the heavens, his clock. Then he sprang to his feet, caught her up once more like a child, started for the canoe.

Palmyra wanted to give the knife back, but her arm was pinioned. She tried to bring it forward, felt the brown man's precautionary tightening of his hold, became again conscious of her grievance, jerked vigorously.

Olive was like a long-suffering parent. He did not know why she resisted, but he did know he could bundle her up close in his arms, with one broad hand across her month.

Sudden rage possessed the girl. She would not be treated so. She struggled with all her might. The knife impeded her, and she flung it down.

The blade fell noiselessly. As it struck in the flooding moonlight, it sent out one little flash. But the savage, all unaware, marched on, holding the girl in viselike grip.

She could not, if she would, have warned him now.

When Olive had carried Palmyra thus unceremoniously down to their canoe, the sea was not long in reasserting its power. Her respite had been too brief for any real rally against the tyrant savage.

As the craft cut its way through the water, the girl was increasingly sorry for what she had done. Her act had not been deliberate, but afterwards, at the canoe, she had failed to call his attention to the empty sheath.

She was astonished now that so infallible a machine should not almost immediately have discovered the loss.

Now, however, until the hour for bananas and coconuts did the square copper hand go back after the blade. Then there appeared upon that face what was actually an expression—puzzled, startled, bereaved. Palmyra could, almost for the first time, follow the processes of that obscure intelligence. Did I forget to put the knife back after cutting the coconuts? Could the steel have fallen out of the sheath as I lay asleep? Or—was it this traitorous girl?

The queer brown-shot eyes fixed themselves upon her. For a moment there seemed a pained reproach in them, but he spoke no word. Instead, he stooped, and she saw with a gasp that he was drawing from its place a heavy stick.

The massive countenance showed no sign of anger, but there never was any sign upon it of the emotions which held violent sway within. If it were not the face of one moved to brute fury, neither was it a face to forgive such treachery.

The girl crouched on her perch. Did he mean to beat her with that cudgel? Did he think he, a kanaka, could strike an American girl? Was it in his mind she would submit like a naked brown woman to drudgery and the strokes of a club?

She had never dared stand on her lurching platform. But now, all caution forgot, she waited. Rather than suffer a blow, she would, like a cornered animal, spring at him with one desperate lunge from the hidden knife.

The savage towered above her. But, at the instant of her thrust, he inverted the stick, pushed it down through a chink in the platform to the bottom of the canoe, motioning her to grip the wood and hold it firmly vertical.

Palmyra stared.

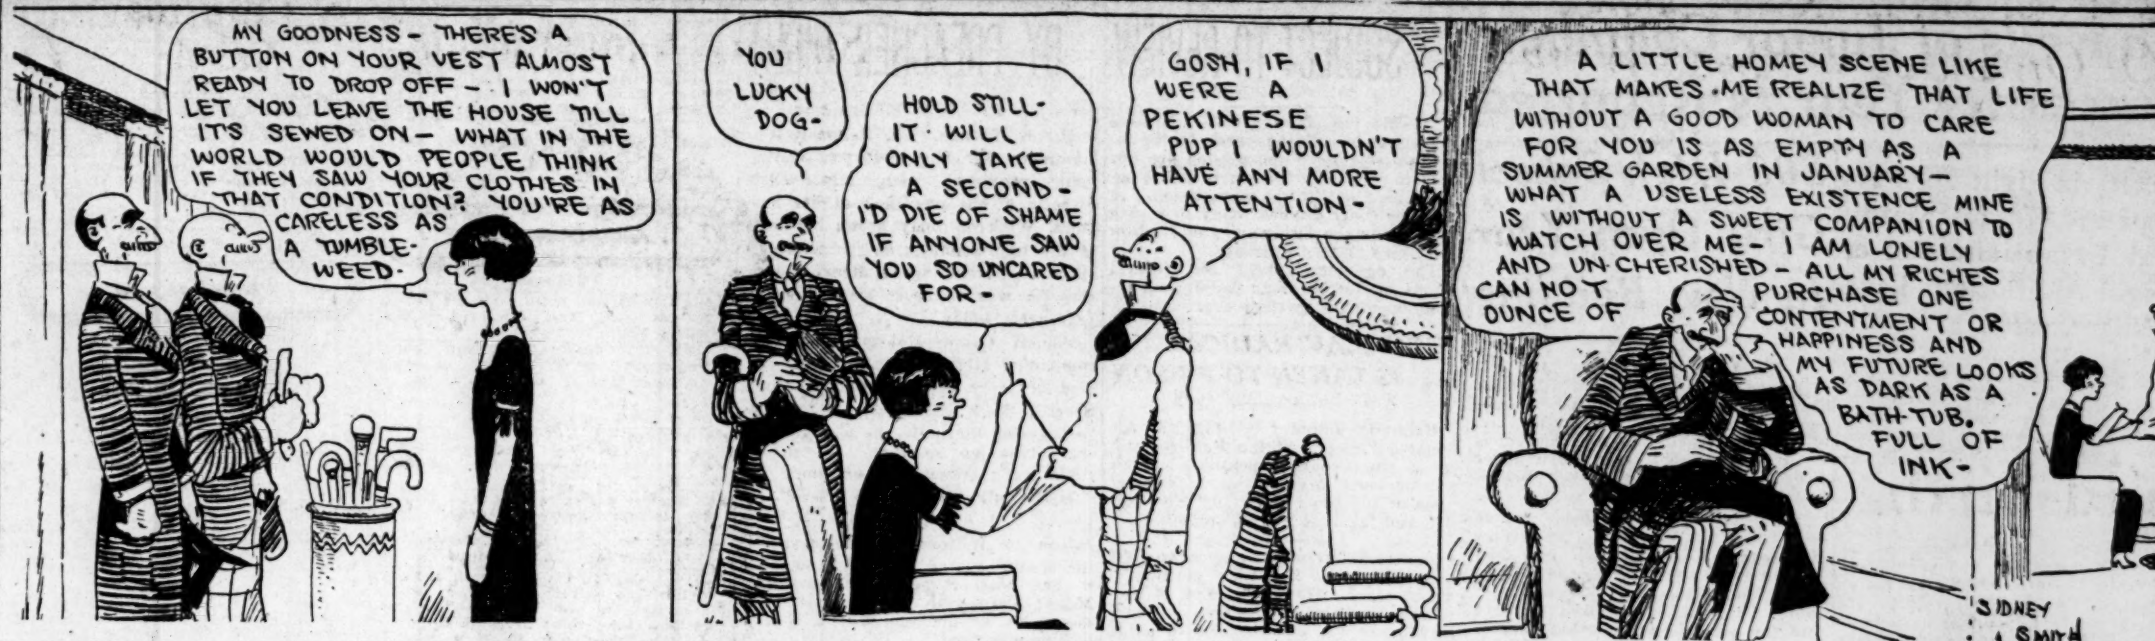

The brown man picked up one of the coconuts, and cautioned her with those square hands, so expressive where his face was blank. Then he raised the nut and brought it down upon the sharpened point. The wood entered the green husk. With a sidewise motion that wrenched her hands, despite the supporting framework, he tore off a section of the husk. Again the nut came down upon the point, impaling itself, and in a moment the whole husk was removed.

She had thought he meant to strike her. The truth, as she now saw, was that he had not even meant to reproach her by word or look. Once more he held her as a child; one acting without perception of consequences; to be granted unending patience.

Why does nickel sulphide and cobalt sulphide dissolve so much less readily in dilute acids than do the sulphides of iron and manganese?

This seems to be due to an unusually slow rate of solution; for nickel and cobalt are not precipitated by hydrogen sulphide even from a much more weakly acid solution, and their sulphides obtained by precipitation with an alkaline sulphide continue to dissolve in dilute acids without reaching a limit determined by the concentration of the hydrogen sulphide and the nickel-ion or cobalt-ion in the solution, as would be the case if the phenomenon were that of a difficultly soluble sulphide.

What will remove iron rust stains from white goods?
